DETAILED ACTION

Status

1. Claims 87-92 are allowed for the reasons given below. However, because this case does not comply with the Sequence Rules as indicated below because no CRF was submitted.
2. This application is in condition for allowance except for the following formal matters:

The application does not comply with the Sequence Rules as discussed below.

Prosecution on the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire TWO MONTHS from the mailing date of this letter.

Sequence Rules

3. This application contains sequence disclosures that are encompassed by the definitions for nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences set forth in 37 CFR 1.821(a)(1) and (a)(2). However, this application fails to comply with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.821 through 1.825 for the reason(s) set forth below. The current case fails to meet sequence rules because no CRF has been submitted. There is a paper copy in the application. In filing a CRF, Applicant must aver that the CRF and Paper copy are identical. Therefore, Applicant may wish to file a new paper copy.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The claimed invention is drawn to a recycling hybridization assay in which the anchor oligonucleotide remains associated with the target. While the prior art of Hogan teaches the recycling hybridization assay, there is no teaching or suggestion in the prior art which would motivate retaining the association of the anchor oligonucleotide with the target. Even in other types of cycling detection assays, ranging from PCR and SDA or rolling circle amplification methods, there is a complete dissociation of the oligonucleotides used in the detection assay and the target. Therefore, the claimed invention is novel and unobvious over the cited prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
